

Executive Coaching

Discovering the Journey

What is the ROI?

Steps to Engage a Coach

I'm a dinosaur

Coaching is a process through which managers and executives are helped to measurably improve their performance and personal effectiveness while reducing stress, releasing creativity and increasing their positive impact.

Coaching is a process through which managers and executives are helped to measurably improve their performance and personal effectiveness while reducing stress, releasing creativity and increasing their positive impact.

Coaching is a process through which managers and executives are helped to measurably improve their performance and personal effectiveness while reducing stress, releasing creativity and increasing their positive impact.

Coaching is a process through which managers and executives are helped to measurably improve their performance and personal effectiveness while reducing stress, releasing creativity and increasing their positive impact.

Coaching is a process through which managers and executives are helped to measurably improve their performance and personal effectiveness while reducing stress, releasing creativity and increasing their positive impact.

Coaching is a process through which managers and executives are helped to measurably improve their performance and personal effectiveness while reducing stress, releasing creativity and increasing their positive impact.

Not everyone!

Only those who are awake to the gap between where they are and where they want to be

And are uncomfortable enough with that gap to do something about it

Who needs a coach?

Experience

Education

Character

Competence

Chemistry

Creativity

Characteristics and Competencies of an Effective Coach

The Coaching Journey

Ask someone who has one

Search the internet- but be careful

Go to your HR department

Interview several

Take it for a test drive

How to find a coach that's right for you?

Questions?

The Coaching Journey

Thanks!

Kurt Andre'

Transformational Coaching and Consulting International (dba TCCI)

mkandre2226@gmail.com

703.200.3495